MOTHERS' DAY

Sunday will be Mothers' day.
The day of all the year
Which we should hold most sacred
For her we love so dear.
Remember she has thought of you
Each day of every year.
For mothers' love never ceases
As long as she is here.

And when at last she goes to rest
In that great wide beyond.
Remember she's your mother still.
And of her still be fond.
For she has toiled while you have slept
To keep you free from care,
So remember her on Mother's day
And for her a flower wear.

Let a flower on thy bosom rest
At least one day a year.
For Mothers' day's most sacred
Of any in the year.
Let white be worn for those we mourn
And bright for those still living.
And thus we'll make this Mothers' day
A day of great thanksgiving.

ONE DEAD, TWO DYING, FROM SPOTTED FEVER

Laid low by the ravages of the dread scourge, spotted fever, one member of the family of Dominic Galuzzo, 158 Howe street, is dead, and two others are in a critical condition at the Bridgeport hospital today.

Frank, aged 4, died at the hospital after midnight this morning. He was transferred from the Howe street home late yesterday, upon the recommendation of Dr. J. W. Gerber, the family physician.

Tuesday afternoon Mrs. Josephine Galuzzo, the mother and James, aged 3, were taken to the hospital in the ambulance. The two had eaten ice cream and a preparation of tomato paste with the house meal, and physicians at first suspected their condition was due to ptomaine poisoning.

The mother and son were critically ill. The father who remained at home with two other children, saw that Frank was ailing yesterday, and he called Dr. Gerber who at noon found him dangerously ill.

The nature of the disease was not determined until an autopsy at the Bridgeport hospital disclosed the little victim's ailment. The mother and other son were promptly segregated from the other patients and strict watch was exercised to prevent the disease from spreading.

The hospital authorities communicate with the home and strict which took prompt steps to fumigate the Howe street home. The Galuzzo family lives in a thickly populated neighborhood and strict vigilance is maintained to safeguard the other residents of the street.

CROP OF NEW LAWYERS RIPE FOR HARVEST

Twenty-four young men who desire to become lawyers appeared at the Bridgeport hospital today morning, testifying before Attorney John C. Chamberlain, representing the committee on admissions of the Fairfield County Bar Association, of the hearing of the candidates for the bar, May 19, to act upon the applications.

Hotel Register May Win His Divorce Suit

Testifying that she found her husband with the woman who was being sued for divorce, Mrs. Evans today this city appeared as the principal witness in the divorce proceedings brought by William M. Tonkin, of this city, against Edith Tonkin, Mrs. Evans told Judge Reed in the Superior court that one night she found her husband in a room at the Hotel Register, with a woman who was being sued for divorce.

Mrs. Evans had been waiting just inside the door. She called to her husband and said, "I want you to take your choice between this woman and me." Evans joined Mrs. Tonkin and left the witness standing there.

Joseph H. Rich who drives a laundry wagon, testified that he saw Evans and Mrs. Tonkin enter the Arlington hotel on January 9, 20 and 20, 1910. On the first occasion he followed them but did not actually see them enter a room. He heard their footsteps as they walked down the hall, though, and also heard the door open and close.

William M. Tonkin said he married Edith King on Sept. 25, 1900. He heard rumors about her actions with other men but when he remonstrated she asked, "What are you going to do about it?"

"We lived a sort of cat and dog life," the witness testified. Tonkin left his wife as soon as he heard of her visit with Evans to the hotel.

Judge Reed told Attorney Henry Greenstein, representing the plaintiff, to produce a copy of the hotel register before any decree could be granted.

Joseph L. McNamara, formerly manager of McNamara's pharmacy at Berkeley street, testified that he saw Evans and Mrs. Tonkin enter the Arlington hotel on January 9, 20 and 20, 1910. On the first occasion he followed them but did not actually see them enter a room. He heard their footsteps as they walked down the hall, though, and also heard the door open and close.

SENATOR MAHAN WAXES ELOQUENT ON PET PROJECT

(Special from United Press.)
New London, May 12.—Emphatically predicting the success of agitation for a million dollar appropriation for state development of New London harbor, Senator Bryan F. Mahan, today, stated it was no pleasant dream he and his fellow boosters were pursuing.

"With New Jersey, New York and Massachusetts, not to mention foreign states spending hundreds of millions for harbor improvements, it's about time Connecticut woke up. If there was the slightest doubt in my mind of the success of this movement for a world harbor in New London, that doubt was dispelled at the legislative hearing in Hartford, yesterday."

"The finest minds and the most responsible persons in the state, representing every interest in Connecticut, arose in that meeting to stamp their approval on the measure."

"I know there is talk of economy. And I have respect for the men who want to save money to the state. But these persons will forever alienate the best intentions of Connecticut if they block this appropriation. The whole state would benefit by the harbor improvements in New London where the greatest steamships in the world will some day land their passengers and freight."
